Parents' Reference Group

Is a leading consultative group for parents of disabled children and young people living in Wakefield and District.

It provides an opportunity for direct discussion to improve the knowledge and understanding of all partners and inform future policy and practice.

It has established good partnership relationships between parents, the local authority and related services.

It provides a non-confrontational, equal status setting for parents, carers, voluntary groups and representatives of statutory bodies, to explore Special Education Needs, disability issues and mutual areas of concern.

What Happens

Issues and concerns are referred to the Disabled Children/ Special Educational Needs Programme Board.

As a parent of a child under the age of 18 years who has special needs you can raise issues, ask questions, contribute to and influence service development.

You can:

Share your thoughts about what is important to parents

Gain information, be consulted

Work in partnership

Access advice, support, advocacy, a listening ear
